The Landis Collection

A reliable seating range balancing visual appeal with operational ease. Landis includes dining chairs, armchairs, counter stools and bar stools designed for flexible commercial environments.

Crafted from American ash, each piece is available in a natural finish, black or walnut stain, or a custom stain of your choice.

Timber and upholstered seat options allow the collection to adapt across hospitality, workplace and other shared settings.

Comfortable proportions support everyday use, while stackability makes changing layouts easier. Cohesive across different seating types and heights. Warm in character and practical in use, Landis sits comfortably within a broad range of interiors.

Landis

Landis combines clean design, durability and comfort, making it well suited to dining, hospitality, workplace and other shared commercial environments.

Compact proportions give it a light, refined presence, while the gently curved backrest and considered seat provide comfort for everyday use. Its stackable design adds practical flexibility in frequently used spaces and settings where layouts regularly change.

Warm and welcoming, its simple form has a timeless quality expressed through a distinctly contemporary profile.

Landis A

The collection's warm, welcoming character extends into an armchair format, with integrated armrests providing additional support and a more generous sense of comfort.

Its considered proportions make it equally suited to dining, meeting and communal settings across hospitality, workplace and other shared commercial environments. The stackable design also provides practical flexibility for frequently used spaces and changing layouts.

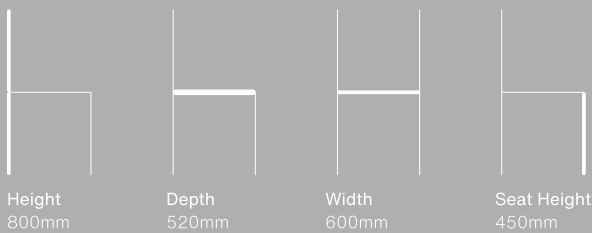

Balanced and inviting, its timeless simplicity is given a contemporary expression through a light, open profile.

Landis SG

The collection extends into counter and bar-height seating, creating a consistent design language across different settings and seating levels.

Available in two heights, it can be specified for kitchen benches, bars and high worktables. A gently curved backrest and well-placed footrest support a comfortable seated position, while the clean timber frame maintains a light, refined profile.

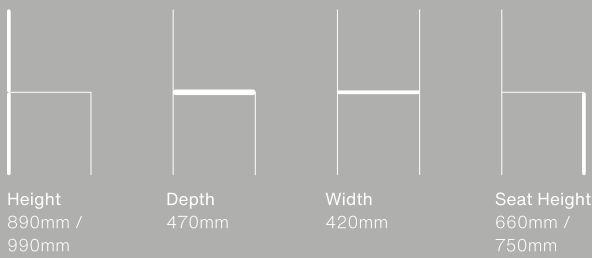

Warm and welcoming, it brings timeless simplicity and contemporary character to elevated seating applications.
